TWO FOR ONE? — Policewoman Marjorie Edwards was a bit perplexed while checking parking meters on N. Lundy Ave., yesterday when she came upon two foreign-imported cars parked in one meter stall. "One car to a meter," she thought, but about that time Peter Wunsch of Royal Oak, Mich., owner of one of the French-made cars appeared on the scene and he and a companion soon drove away. Mrs. Edwards is still a bit confused over the legality of the situation.

One Killed, 15 Injured

Runaway Freight Cars Hurtle Through Town

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — "It sounded like a dynamite explosion," said William Crane. "Then the freight cars hit." Crane had been sitting in a restaurant in the path of a speeding string of 15 runaway freight cars which hurtled through downtown Olympia Friday night, killing one person, injuring 15 others and demolishing a quarter of a city block.

Tot, Cancer Victim, Wants Stuffed Puppy

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Lois Jean Lacey is home for her first birthday. It may well be her last.

"But I don't like to give up hope," says her mother, Mrs. Virgil Lacey of Middletown. Doctors have warned Mrs. Lacey that her daughter may have just three months to live. She has a rare type of cancer for which there is no known cure. Last November, when Lois was seven months old, she was operated on for cancer in a Dayton hospital.

She is one of the youngest to undergo such an operation. Doctors felt they had removed all cancerous tissues during a five-hour operation. But, in such cases, cancers often recur.

Lois' father, a welder, has been out of work for a year and a half. The family depends on the county Welfare Department for groceries.

Monday, she will celebrate her first birthday.

The only thing she wants, says her mother, is a little black stuffed puppy to remind her of her own two pups. One of the dogs had to be taken away when family could afford only one dog tag.

There are four other children in the Lacey household. The family lives in a three-room cottage.

Ike Will Report To Country on Berlin Situation

President Is Expected To Stress Nation's Determined Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's report to the nation Monday night on the Berlin situation will contain no surprises and set forth no new policies, informed sources predicted today.

The talk could be regarded mainly as an educational effort, the sources said, in a move to put the Berlin situation into perspective as the President sees it.

Eisenhower's decision to go on the air was reported to have been prompted in part by continuing contentions among Democrats in Congress that the nation's defenses are inadequate to meet the situation.

The White House announced late Friday the President will speak from his office for 30 minutes over all major television and radio networks starting at 9:30 p.m. EST Monday.

Eisenhower is expected to stress again American determination to stand firmly with its allies in the face of Soviet pressures. But he also was reported ready to make clear his willingness to ease tension by negotiations toward settling the entire German issue.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, asked whether any new development in the Berlin situation had prompted Eisenhower to speak, replied "No, sir."

The address will be the first such nationwide report on a foreign policy situation since last Sept. 9 when Eisenhower discussed Red China's campaign to force Chinese Nationalist troops off Quemoy Island.

News that the President had scheduled the address brought reaction today from some members of Congress.

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) urged Eisenhower to tell the American people frankly and candidly "if there is a real danger of war" over Berlin.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), in a separate interview, said the President in his broadcast "should spell out very precisely what our position is" regarding Berlin, as well as that of Western Allies in negotiations ahead.

VFW Post To Hold Anniversary Dinner

A person outstanding in community affairs will receive a citizenship award from the Allen K. Reynolds post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, during the VFW 37th anniversary celebration tonight at the post home.

Speaker for the 6:30 dinner will be Albert Hanna, administrator of the Central Clinic Hospital.

The dinner will be followed by a military ball at 10 p.m.

Entertainment at intermission will be furnished by the national champion drill team of East Liverpool VFW Post No. 66.

State Commander LeRoy Schell and several other persons prominent in VFW affairs are expected to attend.

Workers Chain Selves to Pillar

Protest Company's Shutdown Plans

BLOOMFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Eleven workers remained chained to a pillar in the General Electric plant today, protesting the company's plan for what they termed an April Fool's Day shutdown.

GE intends to move most of the plant's operations to the South after April 1.

Nearly a score of the workers linked themselves together with a chain Friday and rolled out a banner from fourth floor windows, proclaiming "We want the right to work."

They said they would remain chained in the building until ejected forcibly. A group of them left during the night, however. The reason for the departure was not explained.

Those who stayed in the plant played cards and took turns sleeping on a pile of felt pads in a corner.

The thin chain was wrapped around their wrists or bodies. It had no locks.

The demonstrators used the chain also to hoist food up from the street. They would lower a carton and have it filled with sandwiches and coffee by their wives and fellow members of Local 442, International Union of Electrical Workers.

Charles Ziegler, president of the local and leader of the demonstrators, said the action was taken to show that "the average American takes seriously his right to work."

"General Electric spends the stockholders' money to go around the country advocating right-to-work laws that discriminate against the workers," Ziegler said.

"We would like to know the meaning of 'right to work,'" GE officials said they will not interfere if the men decide to sit out the weekend.

Senate Approves Coyle Machine

103rd General Assembly May Bring Age of Electronics to Ohio Voting

By DUANE E. CROFT
News Staff Correspondent
COLUMBUS, Ohio — Chances are that the 103rd General Assembly will bring the age of electronics to voting in Ohio.

The Democratic-controlled Senate during the week approved and sent to the House a bill to permit the use of the punch-card balloting system developed by Butler County Republican Chairman Martin A. Coyle.

Sponsorship of both the Senate measure and its House companion is shared by a Democrat and a Republican in each chamber and election officials of both political faiths are enthusiastic over the prospect of a relatively inexpensive means of mechanical voting.

SIMILAR legislation passed the House two years ago, when the Republicans were in charge, but got bogged down in the last-minute rush of the Senate's closing days. This time, the bills have a two-month head start.

"Inexpensive" is the key to the attraction the Coyle machine holds for people interested in faster, more efficient voting.

Balloting machines have existed for some time, and no one argues with their advantages.

The conventional machines are fast and efficient. They permit fast retraction of names on ballots just as paper ballots do and provide for write-ins. And they are as tamper-proof and mistake-proof as any voting system yet devised.

But they are expensive. Initial purchase price is in the neighborhood of $1,800 apiece and the machines are cumbersome to store and to transport to and from polling places. This adds up to a prohibitive cost for most communities.

THE COYLE SYSTEM offers a compromise. It requires more ballot handling and therefore slower processing than existing machines, but its cost is low enough to be within the reach of many areas that have not been able to afford the conventional machines.

Purchase price is put at $500 to $600. Weighing only 35 pounds each, two of them can be carried easily by a husky man. Measuring 8 1/2 inches wide, 15 1/2 inches deep and 21 1/2 inches high, lots of them can be stored in a relatively small space.

Although the ballots must be sorted and checked at the precinct for write-ins, counting is done on automatic tabulating machines at a central location at the rate of 100 cards or an average of 1,000 votes a minute.

THE VOTES from an entire county could be tallied in a fraction of the time required in the hand-marked, paper-ballot system.

In addition, the county or city would not necessarily have to buy the tabulating machines. Ballots are designed for a number of standard electronic counters which could be rented — or even borrowed from civic-minded local companies which own them.

Proponents of the Coyle machine emphasize that another advantage over conventional machines is that the permanent ballots can be filed for rechecking.

The Coyle process works like this: The voter is given a ballot similar to the present paper ballot except that it is stiff like a card and printed in smaller type.

In the voting booth, he inserts the card in the machine. If the card is out of position, a red light glows as on a tilted pinball machine. If the card is right, it is locked securely in position.

THE VOTER sees the card through a window that magnifies

Nasser Levels Slashing Attack On Communism

Blasts Kassem Who Opposes His Policy For Arab Nationalism

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The United Arab Republic's President Nasser has set off one of the most slashing attacks on Communism ever witnessed in the Middle East.

It was launched only a few weeks after Nasser appeared to be cozying up to the Communists. Some might look upon him as a turncoat.

In truth, Nasser has been entirely consistent.

Never Was a Communist
He never was a Communist. He never tolerated Reds in Egypt. Once he became head of the United Arab Republic, he cleaned them out of Syria too. Privately, Nasser has often voiced distaste for Communism as a way of life.

But the Arab leader hated more what he calls the "imperialism" of the West—the policies of Britain, the United States and France toward the Middle East. He accused them of interfering in the internal affairs of Arab countries and exploiting the Arabs for their own gain. Until now at least, he considered the policies of the Western Powers more dangerous to him than the threat of Communism.

Personally Leading Attack
Virtually overnight, Nasser has turned the full might of his powerful propaganda machine against Communism. More important, he personally is leading the attack.

The reason is Premier Abdel Karim Kassem of Iraq. True or not, Nasser believes Kassem is a Communist. He has said so privately.

He now charges Kassem with opening Baghdad to the Communists and with aiming eventually to bring the whole Arab world under Communist rule.

What Nasser does not say is that Kassem right now is challenging his heretofore undisputed number one position in the Arab world.

Opposed Nasser's Policy
Moreover, Kassem has clearly opposed Nasser's main policy for the Arabs—Arab nationalism. This is something Nasser cannot abide.

To add insult to injury, Kassem publicly accused Nasser of fomenting the trouble and kicked out Egyptian embassy personnel.

This, perhaps more than anything else, triggered Nasser's all-out onslaught on Kassem and the Communists who support him.

The Hawaiian governor visited the White House to thank the President on behalf of the people of the islands for the part the administration had played in pressing for admission of Hawaii as the 50th state.

Quinn, leaving at noon today for Honolulu to be there when notice of presidential approval arrives, said he had told the President Hawaii is very conscious of its mission in the middle Pacific.

Quinn said Hawaii wishes to perform as a "hub of the Pacific" in creating greater understanding between the East and West and the peoples of Asia "whose friendship we are trying to... nourish."

Quinn will have 30 days after formal notice of Eisenhower's approval to issue an election proclamation. The primary could be held no less than 60 nor more than 90 days after the proclamation. A general election could be held no later than 40 days after the primary.

Quinn said he would put the machinery in motion to qualify Hawaii for formal admission as soon as possible. But he said he wants to talk with legislative and political leaders of both parties in Hawaii before issuing his primary proclamation.

Quinn, a Republican, who said last month he would run for the first elected governor of the new state, said today this is not the time to talk about that.

He told reporters there is a strong two-party system in Hawaii and perhaps it would vote

Paul Cook, 39, Dies In Mishap In His Garage

Victim Was Trying To Make Repairs On Auto At Time

Paul Cook, 39, of 145 N. Madison Ave. was killed Friday at about 6:15 p.m. in the garage at his home when the auto on which he was working fell from a bumper jack, crushing his skull.

Mr. Cook was pronounced dead on arrival at Salem City Hospital, due to a crushed skull and multiple internal injuries.

The tragedy was discovered by the victim's wife, Aileen, at about 7:30 p.m. when she went to the garage to see why he hadn't returned to the house.

He had been installing shock absorbers on the family auto. Mrs. Cook called the fire department and told them that her husband was pinned under the car. They, in turn notified the police department.

Mr. Cook had been working on the rear axle of the automobile and had removed the right rear tire and wheel of the car. When the vehicle slipped off the jack, it slid forward, crushing him under its weight.

Dr. William A. Kolozsi, county coroner, who returned a verdict of accidental death, fixed the time of death at between 6:15 and 6:30 p.m.

CHILDREN OF THE BIBLE

by Patrick and Garrison

DORCAS

"Now there was at Joppa a certain disciple named Tabitha, which is by interpretation called Dorcas..."

— Acts 9:36

Scripture introduces us to Dorcas when she is a grown woman, "full of good works and almsdeeds which she did."

Messengers have just brought the Apostle Peter word that she has died. Peter hurries from Lydda to her home. There he finds her body laid out in an upper chamber, while all about stood the widows and poor people Dorcas has helped, "weeping, and shewing the coats and garments which Dorcas made while she was with them."

Before Peter restores her to life, let us turn back the years in the life of this seamstress for the poor, whose still hands have so many times stitched baby clothes for orphans, and burial shrouds for the poor.

We see her as a little girl in the little sea-port town thirty-two miles northwest of Jerusalem. From her window she occasionally looks out over the flattened domes of the houses between her and the harbor. In the distant harbor, various kinds of ships lie at anchor in the sandy roadstead.

Already, her little hands are busy with the needle, as her mother teaches her to sew. She is happy to be helping with the work and eager to learn all the intricate stitches her mother knows.

But from time to time, her thoughts wander. She is thinking of a conversation she overheard between two men who came from Jerusalem to visit her family several days before.

They had talked excitedly of a man who, they said, had been unjustly condemned to death and crucified, but who had returned to life after three days.

"Is it possible to rise from the dead as they say the prophet Jesus did?" she asks her mother earnestly. "So He taught," her mother replied. "If you truly believe."

Dorcas believed. Years later in the upper chamber at Joppa she heard the voice telling her, "Tabitha, arise." And she opened her eyes.

Election Officials Oppose 4-Year Plan

Officers of the Ohio Association of Election Officials report its members in all 88 counties are opposed to the attempt in the Legislature to permit voters to remain registered for four years without casting ballots.

We agree with the election officials. They are the professionals in this business.

Ohio law now provides that an elector who does not go to the polls for two successive general elections is removed from the registration list. In order to vote again, he must re-register.

A proposal in the 103rd Ohio General Assembly would permit a voter to miss four general elections before he would be required to re-register.

Spearheading the attack on the four-year proposal are James Seccombe, Stark County Election Board clerk who is president of the Ohio Association of Election Officials, and Jennings B. Cole, Scioto County board clerk who is chairman of the association's legislative committee. Both men have served many years as working election officials and know the headaches of registration.

Looking at it from their own point of view, they argue that too much "dead wood" would accumulate in the registration files in a four-year period; that more filing space and equipment would be needed to carry the inactive names; that precinct lists would grow too large, resulting in unnecessary division and rearrangement of precincts.

Those points are the election officials' headaches. They deserve public consideration.

But the officials do not stop there. They argue the public's side, too. That voters should take enough interest in their local and state governments to cast their ballots in every election; that a four-year registration would encourage too many lazy voters to go to the polls only when a president is to be elected; that the so-called off-year elections would get even fewer voters than they do now, which already are too few.

Voting in America is not only a right and a privilege, it is a duty. Ohio should have no four-year registration law which would make it easier for more people not to vote.

Hawaii Wanted to Join the Union

If nothing further blocks the long-awaited admittance of Hawaii to the Union, an agitation that has been going on since the beginning of the 20th century will have paid off. Hawaii will be what its most vocal patriots have wanted it to be since 1903, when the legislature of the new Territory of Hawaii requested Congress to set up the steps leading to ultimate statehood.

When Alaska was admitted as the 49th state last year, Hawaii's admittance as the 50th was a near-certainty, because its qualifications were far stronger and always had been. This is, at the moment, the thing about Hawaii that most urgently needs to be understood.

It always has wanted to become a state. Its leaders have worked for a generation to develop its qualifications to be a state. There is good reason to believe Hawaiians will work hard to prove they are as strongly entitled to full citizen status as most U.S. citizens and more entitled to it than some.

There are some important potentialities lurking in the offing in this respect. One of them, which politicians have not wanted to talk about, is in civil rights. Hawaiians have not worked for statehood with a view to foregoing any of the tolerances they have developed as an ethnic mixture of races.

From their point of view, one of the most useful functions Hawaii can perform in the years to come is a Pacific outpost of free government that respects the dignity of all men, regardless of color. Hawaii and Alaska are U.S. offensive campaigns in the 20th century battle for men's minds. It is a role their people have wanted to play. It is a role they must be permitted to play without interference from race-haters on the mainland.

They have sought the privilege of statehood and the responsibilities that go with it. They have not been forced into the Union; they have joined it voluntarily. And having joined it, they have a right to believe it should continue to be what they believe it is—not something distorted by hatemongers.

Sledge-Hammer and Swatter

Some of us when we were children heard an adage about not swatting flies with a sledge-hammer.

The idea was that the implement should be suited to the purpose.

The other side of the proposition would be, of course, that you don't try to fell a steer with a fly-swatter.

This is the dilemma that military experts and their following factions are getting necked about in Washington.

The dilemma was created by development of thermo-nuclear weapons—the sledge-hammers of modern warfare. Because they are lethally overwhelming, they raise the question of whether they can be used "to swat flies" in any war short of Armageddon.

There is no question about the Armageddon they would produce. They could wipe out civilization not only by destroying everything within range of their cataclysmic blasts but by poisoning every living thing contaminated by their side effects.

Therefore, in the logic of military thought there must be an alternative. This would be the fly-swatter of traditional warfare. The argument in Washington is about the relative importance of sledge-hammers and fly swatters.

President Eisenhower, who has vigorously reasserted his leadership in both foreign policy and military affairs, believes his executive budget provides enough fly-swatters for little wars and enough sledge-hammers for Armageddon, if it ever came to that. Opponents in the Pentagon, backed by critics in Congress, declare there is a shortage of both fly-swatters and sledge-hammers but particularly fly-swatters.

They assert that too much reliance is being placed on atomic warfare, which is not likely to be resorted to in any case, and not enough reliance is being placed on ground forces, naval equipment and airplanes, which would be called on to carry the brunt of the fighting if war occurred.

They argue, with good effect, that the probable enemy—the Soviet Union—would be in a position to throw masses of ground troops, airplanes and submarines into action in Europe, the Middle East and Asia and that if this happened the United States would be trying to swat numerous flies with too few fly swatters. Its sledge-hammers would be useless, because they would be harmful to America's friends if used on targets outside Russia.

There is no ready-made answer to the problem—no easy way out of the dilemma. Nothing like it ever has confronted military leaders and politicians before.

They are making history for a thousand years to come as they weigh the pros and cons. There is no solace, either, in the fact that other nations are equally uncertain. The dilemma is worldwide.

It's a great relief when a fellow finally finishes filling out his income tax blank.

Once Over

BALLAD FOR TAXPAYERS

(Higher taxes on restaurant bills, hotel bills, etc., and a 10-cent tax on taxi rides are threatened in New York.—News item.)

I called a taxi (recklessly);
"Where to?" the driver said;
"Straight to the poorhouse," I replied,
"It's looming dead ahead."
"A good idea," I heard him say
In accents extra blue,
"I've paid my taxes for ONE DAY
And I'll be going, too!"

High taxes faced us by the score—
Our way we had to pick—
We couldn't make much headway for
The taxes were so thick;
We struck a stranger, but he smiled,
Displaying no ill-will;
"I can stand anything," he said,
"I've PAID A HOTEL BILL!"

We picked him up most tenderly;
"No thanks," he said, "I quit;
If I am rescued I am sure
THERE'LL BE A TAX ON IT."
We dragged him to a restaurant;
He fought with all his might;
We bandaged him and ordered food
In sweetness and in light.

The check came with taxation new;
We split it with a whoop;
'Twas clear we now were going to
THE POORHOUSE AS A GROUP.

THE STRIKE IN NEW YORK cemeteries is over and in this curious age it's comforting to know a man won't have to cross a picket line after he's dead.

The International Flower Show, the first sign of spring, is on in Gotham with the password, "Hello, Bud." Anybody who thinks women are inferior in battle should go to flower shows and try to beat the garden club gals in the rush to the rose exhibits. Gardens and lawns are so realistic that, despite a lingering winter, the first robin tried to get in. Having no ticket the bird was excluded by the doorman.

"Landlord Gouger Faces Music"—headline. (The "Gyp"—sy song no doubt.)

Fred Stone, dead at 85, was on the stage more than half a century and in all that time never had to depend on a dirty line or a cheap routine. "Wizard of Oz," through which he leaped to overnight fame, had music by A. Baldwin Slocane and Paul Tietjens. Book and lyrics by L. Frank Baum. It opened at the Majestic January 21, 1903.

Cry of the times: "Here's $5. Have the gas station take out the tax and give me the rest in gasoline."

Jimmy Hoffa is organizing the Florida fruit grove workers. Maybe he wants to develop a more defiant grapefruit.

Best Darned Office Boy I Ever Hired!

Ike Talks Tough

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, who in recent weeks has had to depend more on himself than at any time since entering the White House in 1953, sounds more emphatic, blunter. This showed at his news conference Wednesday. At his meetings with congressional leaders last weekend he reportedly was very much in charge.

The two men he leaned on most are now out of the picture. Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's chief of staff in the White House until he resigned last summer, was a great cushion against the burdens of the presidency. Secretary of State John Foster

Dulles, now ill with cancer, had an extraordinary relationship with the President. He was Eisenhower's eyes and ears in foreign policy and much of the time his spokesman.

Now far more of the presidential load has landed on Eisenhower's shoulders, along with its many irritations. And Eisenhower is responding with a show of vigor.

In times past, if you attended one of his news conferences and didn't have to concentrate on taking notes, your mind was apt to wander as Eisenhower rambled through generalities that lacked a sharp edge.

Not Wednesday. He still got wound up in long, involved sentences which often scrambled subject and predicate, but he made points that did have an edge.

Perhaps it was out of exasperation with congressional Democrats, who have been calling on him to pump more men and money into the armed forces, that he finally said in effect:

There's not going to be a land war in Europe; and if the Allied troops there can't cope with whatever is done by the far more numerous Soviet troops, then the whole situation has passed beyond the point of limited war.

He didn't volunteer any statement that if war could not be limited to land engagements then nuclear weapons might have to be used. But under questioning he indicated he was not ruling out the possibility of nuclear war.

This might have been intended to make the Soviets think soberly before they tried any adventures around West Berlin. But, since it might also make American Allies in Europe edgy, he must have thought of that, too, before he spoke.

It was tough talk. But Eisenhower's attitude on the crisis Premier Nikita Khrushchev cooked up on Berlin has been increasingly, although not blatantly, tough.

Perhaps the best sign of his bluntness came when he was asked what he thought of Khrushchev's proposal that maybe the Berlin problem could be solved by letting Soviet troops join Allied troops in West Berlin.

At first, almost as if from force of habit, Eisenhower launched out on an explanation with a generalized moral tone.

He said this country would consult in the most democratic way with its allies in framing an answer to the Soviet demands about getting out of West Berlin and leaving it a free city.

Then, as if impatient with himself for not getting to the point on the question about Khrushchev's proposal, Eisenhower wound up by saying: "Now, as to the violating everything I have said, I'd say I don't think much of it."

The tentative claim staked out here to frontal sinuses as a proper area for a new health foundation has been challenged by a reader with an obviously bogus name that has an unpleasant topical connotation.

He says, though, that the portion of the anatomy above the right and left eyes already has been staked out by his organization, the Sinusitis Society. His threat of litigation and his starchy attitude about trespassers have scared us off.

We must look for some new section of the anatomy to cover with a foundation—preferably one not already covered with a foundation. One that comes immediately to mind is the back of the knee, which has been cruelly neglected, starting with nature, herself.

Nothing ever has been done in its behalf. It is an area as neglected as the Mojave Desert. From time to time the front of the knee gets a whirl, as when a football star tears the ligaments, or a fashion dictator says skirts should show some, but the back of the knee is never mentioned.

And if it turns out again that someone has staked a claim to this part of the anatomy, there is the calf to be considered.

There was this lady on television recently who showed what could be done to make the human race more admirable if something could be done to improve the calf. Years ago she made her fame and fortune with as pretty a pair of calves as ever had been seen, and time has been kind to them.

In her case, she was born with the right original equipment; she needed no anatomical organization. But it stands to reason that many a female whose calves ever would get second glance at a county fair might be helped with an organized program.

Some have fattened calves, some have undernourished calves. The idea would be to give help in both emergencies. Contributions would pour in from men, if the thing got started.

Every other conspicuous part of the anatomy has something in the works for its improvement—some foundation or perhaps a foundation garment to gild nature's faulty work.

But the calf, the back of the

Party Without Booze

By PETER EDSON
Soft Drinks Served at Washington Affair

Prohibition isn't exactly returning to Washington, D.C., but the United Arab Republic has just shown that it's possible to toss a reception for 400 confirmed cocktail hounds in Washington, without serving them any booze. It was a complete success, setting a frightening prospect.

The occasion was the first anniversary of Egypt's union with Syria. The fact that it fell on Sunday and Washington's birthday had nothing to do with drying it up.

But the U.A.R. National Day did happen to fall on the day of the full moon in the middle of the month of Shaban. This is a day of special worship in Moslem countries. Since alcoholic beverages are banned to all devout Mohammedans, U.A.R. bachelor Ambassador Dr. Mostafa Kamel decided to put Washington on the wagon.

WHAT HE SERVED guests was orange juice, tomato juice and soft drinks. After raising their eyebrows in shocked surprise, his freeloading guest sampled them in cocktail, old-fashioned and highball glasses, according to taste, and found them quite palatable. Some came back for seconds and thirds at the one small bar which sufficed.

As an appetizer, the stuff turned out to be fairly interesting. Guests made their way through the big embassy drawing room to the equally big dining room. And there was a buffet such as only the Near Easterners know how to spread.

Lots of roast legs of lamb, turkey other cold meats, rice stuffed in grape leaves, ripe olives, small peppers, hors d'oeuvres, canapés and other delicacies. Finally bright ice cream and in the center of the table a big cake two feet by three feet, iced red, white and black with two green stars in the center, like the U.A.R. flag.

IT ALL DISAPPEARED, even without stimulants and the chefs had to clean the bones and bring in scraps for the final rounds. Whether this was because of or in spite of the temperance angle, party experts disagree. Anyway, the Arabs have now shown that a big party can be thrown in Washington without rolling out or emptying the barrels.

This will come as a disillusionment to those who believe that people in Washington—where the per capita consumption of alcohol is second highest in the country—go staggering from one party to another, three sheets in the wind.

As a matter of fact, official Washington isn't that wet. As in New York, tourists raise the absorption level, with what they consume on premises and what they take home.

The White House sets a moderate pace. Cocktails and liquors are served guests at small private parties. Wines are served at state and diplomatic dinners.

Guests invited in for musicals after the dinners are served wine or a temperance punch, but never hard stuff.

Since alcohol is forbidden to strict Mohammedans, the Saudi Arabian embassy here never serves wines or liquors. But it is the only bone dry embassy in town. Most Moslems take a little on the side if they've had much western contact.

OTHER EMBASSIES do not serve alcoholic beverages during visits of their head of state if he is a total abstainer like India's Nehru. The White House also does not serve alcohol in the presence of such official guests.

There is a growing feeling among some embassy people here that their national holidays should not be observed by a pouring. embassies in Washington, it averages out to nine such parties a month.

In general, foreign embassies are wetter than U.S. embassies in other countries, but that's economics, not morals.

There's always a hassle with Congress, trying to get more money for official entertaining here and overseas. In the budget it's disguised as "representation allowances."

For next year, State Department is asking $850,000—$100,000 more than allowed this year. The raise will be opposed by congressmen who are teetotalers themselves—and by those who vote dry because there's strong sentiment against strong drink in their districts.

Missionaries' Tough Task

By TOM HENSHAW

NEW YORK (AP)—The missionary had spent many months among the Meo people of Indo-China, trying to interpret the scriptures to them in their own language. But he had yet to find the word or phrase that adequately described the key Christian concept of salvation.

True, he knew the word "pang"

Matter of Fact

Tunneling is one of the oldest types of engineering. The Egyptians, the people of India, and the Aztecs in Middle America all dug long passages into the earth for their graves and temples. The Assyrians built underground drains and tunneled under the Euphrates River. The Greeks also built tunnels, but the greatest tunnel builders in ancient historical times were the Romans.

A thoroughbred horse is any horse eligible for registration in the General Stud Book. This book was begun in England in 1791. It attempts to trace the pedigree of famous race horses for at least a century before that time. From that time it has been accurately kept. The thoroughbred has been developed almost entirely for the race track, emphasis having been placed on speed.

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE
The Practice of Quietness

Some human beings are thrilling. Let me tell you about an inspiration-packed personality.

Recently I had a speaking engagement in Savannah. I was glad to be there because it gave me some time to spend with one of the most remarkable human beings I have ever met.

Dr. Peale is a truly inspiring and good friend, Harry Moore. Now, you may never have heard of Harry Moore, but everyone in Savannah knows him. He is the pastor of a Methodist Church there; it is a beautiful church and he built it up to its present status. He comes from a family that knows about building up churches—his father is another great pastor, the Methodist Bishop of Atlanta, Arthur J. Moore.

TALKING WITH Harry Moore is fun. I'd class him as one of the best tellers of stories south of the Mason and Dixon line. And, believe me, that's no small achievement. Not only is Harry fun, he's interested in just about everything. "Norman," he asked me, "have you seen any good shows up in New York lately?"

"No," I said. "I'm too busy. I don't get around to shows very often. I'm sorry to say."

He shook his head in mild reproach. "I don't know what's the matter with you. Why, I'm coming up to New York just to see some shows!"

"See?" I thought. "See?" For the Reverend Harry Moore is blind and has been blind for some years. But he never seems to think about it and his friends find it easy to forget that he can't see, just as he seems to forget.

I've known Harry Moore for a long time. And I knew him when in his late thirties, he came to New York and heard the tragic news that he would never see again.

AFTER THE SPECIALIST told him that he would be blind, he went back to his hotel room on an upper floor. The overwhelming thoughts came to him about all the things he would never see again—the faces of his wife and children, sunsets and sunrises, mountain and valleys.

At that time he still had enough sight left to see from his hotel window down to the street far below. He knew enough mathematics to compute about how long it would take a body to fall from that window ledge to the sidewalk. In sixty seconds he could be through with all of it. He opened the window and grasped the ledge. Then he sank to his knees and asked the Lord to help him.

Just then his father entered the room, came over and put his arm around him. That dangerous moment passed. . . And, as Harry voiced it later, "In my Dad's supporting love I learned the true meaning of fatherhood."

THE NEXT SUNDAY, still in New York, he came to my church. He came early, before anyone else was there. He sank into the seat, put his head forward on one of the pews, and yielded himself to the spiritual quietness of that empty house of God. "I never knew before what it was to pray in such depth," he told me later. "But all of a sudden in the holy silence I felt myself get victory."

It didn't come all at once, but Harry Moore touched the hand of God and received power. Today he is a great and happy soul and a tremendously effective church leader.

Every troubled soul would do well to heed that Biblical invitation. "Come away by yourselves to a lonely, quiet place, and rest a while." Many churches and synagogues are open day and night for meditation and prayer. Try the practice of quietness with a spiritual content and see what it can do for you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	John	14	1-9
Monday	Mark	2	1-12
Tuesday	Mark	3	1-5
Wednesday	Mark	5	25-34
Thursday	Mark	5	35-43
Friday	Mark	7	31-37
Saturday	Mark	10	46-52

How often, when Dad would finish reading the Bible, he would hold the Book gently in his hands and look out the window. . .

I used to wonder what he saw—what vision against the setting sun!

And once I blurted the tremendous question: "Daddy, can you see God?"

He kept on gazing off into space, but a smile crossed his lips. "No, son, a man doesn't see God! He feels God. And then he looks out his window and sees the world in a different light."

I grew up to discover what he meant. His Bible—his Church—his convictions have become mine. And when I look at the world . . . it's through Dad's window.

One day my son will grow up . . .

Stormy March Begins Another Winter Blast

By The Associated Press

Stormy March, flexing its late winter muscles, slapped the Rocky Mountains and central Plains with another snow coating today as the eastern half of the nation welcomed a general warming.

The latest wintry assault, fortified by localized gusty winds, dumped 1 to 3 inches of snow in Wyoming, Colorado and Nebraska.

The Weather Bureau warned snowfall was likely to build up a 4-inch spread in northern Nebraska during the day.

Wyoming felt the early brunt of the swirling snow. Lander, a western Wyoming community, reported a 3-inch fall in a six hours. Two inches fell at Casper, Douglas and Laramie and an inch at Cheyenne.

Craig, Colo. caught at least 2 inches. Denver and other Colorado communities also reported snow. Chadron, in northwest Nebraska city, reported 2 inches.

Winds, clocked at 70 m.p.h., whistled through Hanksville, Utah. Tonopah, Nev. reported gusts up to 40 m.p.h.

A thunderstorm, powered by gusts of 34 m.p.h., hit Grand Junction, Colo. Friday night.

Only slight precipitation scarred generally clear skies over the country. Parts of the Northwest, Great Lakes and New England reported light, unmeasurable amounts.

The most significant measurable amounts fell as snow in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio. Northwestern Pennsylvania recorded 1 to 5 inches of fresh snow and southwestern portions 2 to 3 inches. One death, that of a man whose car skidded on ice near West Milford, was attributed to the snowfall.

Youngstown, Ohio, got a late night snowfall of 2 inches.

Increased warming dominated the southern half of the nation in the wake of an overnight climb of 10 to 20 degrees. Night-time readings were in the 60s from southern Texas westward to southern California to the 40s and 50s in the Southeast.

The Weather Bureau forecast temperatures in the 40s and 50s for Northern points during the day.

Sales Tax Receipts 17 Per Cent Higher

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sales tax receipts were more than 17 per cent higher in February than in the same month in 1958. State Tax Commissioner Stanley J. Bowers reported.

Bowers said Friday Ohio is "coming back" for the 1958 recession pointing out a February collection of $12,923,000 in sales taxes.

This year's February collection, however, are still lower, by $329,000, than the same period on 1957.

The tax usually produces about 23 to 25 per cent of Ohio's general revenue. When sales tax receipts began to drop last year, the tax commissioner asked Ohioans to demand their sales tax stamps to make sure the tax money got into the state treasury.

The Legislature is considering broadening the base of the tax and eliminating the use of stamps.

Auditor Asks Opinion On Bounty Payments

LISBON — County auditor Kenneth Bell has requested Prosecutor G. William Brokaw for an opinion on county payment of fox bounties.

The county commissioners failed to appropriate money for this purpose at their organization meeting Jan. 5.

Prosecutor Brokaw subsequently declared that the law stipulates that fox bounty funds must be set aside at the commissioners' organizational meeting, and that bounty payments this year would be illegal.

Bell said if such is the case his office will not pay bounties, even though the county commissioners appropriated $900 for this purpose at a later meeting.

Sheriff Russell J. Vanfossan's office in the Courthouse has been taking the fox fees since the first of the year but no payments have been made so far, the auditor said.

Contract Is Signed For Voting Machines

LISBON — Columbiana County Commissioners R. Max Gard and Frank Wilson signed a contract Thursday with the Shoub Voting Machine Co. of Canton to furnish 14 voting machines to be used in Lisbon and East Palestine for the May and November elections.

Commissioner Walter Hunston refused to sign the contract.

The firm will rent the machines to the county at five per cent of their costs. If the county decides to buy the machines, the rental fee will be deducted from the total price.

Clerk Dan Butch asked Prosecutor G. William Brokaw for an opinion on the first contract sent by the Canton company, and Brokaw ruled that the contract was a conditional sale of 14 machines at a total price of $25,522 to be paid off in 10 installments.

A four per cent interest rate would be charged on the unpaid balance, costing the county another $4,593.96, Brokaw said.

Eight Qualifiers For Cage Titles To Be Decided Tonight

Salem to Meet Akron Central

Springfield, Xenia
Ousted From Play

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio picks its eight qualifiers for the state high school basketball championships, in regional finals tonight.

And if the action is as unpredictable as Friday night's results, anything can happen as the 16 survivors of a starting field of 1,013 schools square off on the hardwoods.

Still on hand were Cleveland East Tech and Northwestern of Wayne County, last year's Class AA and Class A champions, but a flock of highly-rated talent was sidelined in the semi-final firing.

Ousted in Class A were such stalwarts as New Boston and Convoy-Union, the former bowing after 22 straight victories, and the latter after 27. Midvale and Pickerington, each beaten but once, also fell, as did Newton Falls-Braceville with a 25-2 record.

Xenia's 1942 champions, and Springfield's state title winners of 1925 and 1950, were sidelined in Class AA, as was Sandusky St. Mary, the 1936 Class A king now playing in Class AA.

Northwestern is the only champion left in Class A, but Middletown, East Tech and Columbus East—which have accounted for nine of the last 15 state titles—are among the Class AA survivors.

Two unbeaten teams are left in each division—a far cry from last year when all four Class AA and three of the four Class A teams reached the state tournament with clean records.

East Tech with 22-0, and Akron Central with 20-0, are the Class AA pair of clean teams, while Racine (26-0) and Salem Local of Urbana (26-0) are unscathed in Class A.

The big upsets in Class A were Lynnwood-Jacksontown's 53-51 win over unbeaten New Boston at Athens, and Edgerton's 69-67 double-overtime conquest over Convoy-Union at Lima. Those losses left only Northwestern (1) and Salem Local (6) of the top 10 in the final Associated Press poll.

In Class AA East Tech (1), Salem (5) and Akron Central (6) are still around from the poll leaders—but Salem and Akron Central meet tonight in the Kent regional.

Middletown, seven-time state champ, continued to roll as the Middlesex edged once-beaten Xenia at Cincinnati 76-67. Cincinnati St. Xavier, the Cinderella team of the tournament with a 16-7 record, ousted Springfield 62-53 to earn a final berth against the rebuilt but always-potent Middlesex.

The Middlesex have compiled a 20-4 record, but can't be counted out. Back in 1947 they had a 19-6 mark as they zoomed to the state championship.

East Tech goes against Cleveland St. Joseph (20-3) tonight, and Toledo Scott (19-4) goes against Columbus East (22-3) in the other regional Class AA finals.

Tradition appears against Cleveland St. Joseph, Toledo Scott and Cincinnati St. Xavier. No Toledo team has ever won the Class AA crown, and no parochial school has ever triumphed. The other game appears a tossup, as Salem boasts a 23-1 record, losing only to Cleveland East Tech, while Akron Central is unbeaten.

Akron schools have won the Class AA crown three times, while Salem is coached by Johnny Cabas who piloted the Columbian Clippers to the Class A laurels in 1947.

Old Washington, with a 28-1 record, meets Northwestern in tonight's eye-catching Class A affair at Canton. Northwestern, at 24-2, must win to move towards its second title, while Old Washington could become the first team to take the crown after being defeated in district play. Mayville of South Zanesville defeated Old Washington in the Marietta playoffs, but the losers got a second chance under an unprecedented qualifying plan.

Coaches of tonight's winners meet at the Ohio Union, on the Ohio State University campus, at 11 a.m. Sunday to draw state tournament opponents and pick up ticket allotments for the March 20-21 finals.

Bahama Scores Win Over Wilfie Greaves

NEW YORK (AP)—With a decisive victory over Canadian champion Wilfie Greaves to his credit, Yama Bahama became real ambitious today.

The classy boxer from the Bahamas now wants shots at Dick Tiger, the British Empire middleweight champion from Nigeria, and former world middleweight ruler Carmen Basilio and Gene Fullmer.

Bahama looked like he belonged with the top ten middleweights in winning the unanimous ten-round decision at the Garden Friday night. The bout was broadcast and televised nationally.

Greaves was a perfect foil for the sharpshooting, fisherman-

Harney Leads In Golf Tourney

Blazes 7 Under Par
In Pensacola Open

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — The half-way leader in the $15,000 Pensacola Open Golf Tournament, Paul Harney, has a double incentive for a good showing here. One is the money. The other is the chance of playing in his first Masters Tournament at Augusta, Ga.

The lean distance-hitter from Worcester, Mass., blazed a 7-under par 65 Friday over the 6,500-yard course for a 36-hole total of 134.

Two strokes behind was Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., with 69-67-136.

Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Arnold Palmer of Lakeland, Fla., had a 138.

Seven amateurs and 64 pros qualified for the final two rounds. The cutoff point was 68. Among those still in is defending champion Doug Ford with 78-68-146.

Victims of the cutoff included George Bayer and Tommy Jacobs at 149; Gardner Dickinson, John McMullin, Bob Watson, Ed Oliver and Dick Mayer at 150; Gene Littler 151; Al Besselink, Julius Boros, Al Ferree and Dick Knight 152.

Harney, one of the top players in golf for two years, still is aiming for his first Masters. The Masters, on the basis of a point system during the winter tour of PGA tournaments, invites two players who are not otherwise eligible for or invited to the Augusta event.

Going into the Pensacola Open, McMullin was leading in this point system with 105 and Harney was second with 82½.

With McMullin out of contention here and only the St. Petersburg, Fla., meet and Azalea Open at Wilmington, N. C., remaining before the Masters, Harney has a good chance to put himself in position to be invited.

Cage Mentor To Speak At UCT Meeting

Salem High School basketball coach John Cabas will be the guest speaker when the Salem Council, United Commercial Travelers of America, holds its regular weekly business meeting Wednesday at the Elks Home.

The affair was originally set for March 11 but was postponed because of the Salem, Canton Lincoln basketball tournament game at Kent.

Cabas will discuss this year's cage squad in addition to showing movies of the team in action.

William Mackey, senior counselor, will preside while William Schaeffer will act as general chairman in charge of arrangements.

The evening will start at 6:30 p.m. with a fish fry. Reservations should be made as soon as possible with Council secretary Raymond Reich.

fighter from Bimini. Wilfie, 160½ pounds, kept wading in and Yama, 153, kept popping him with stinging left jabs.

Referee Art Mercante had Bahama in front, 6-4 in rounds. The two judges made Yama's margin larger. Artie Aidello made it 7-3 and Leo Birnbaum, 8-2. The AP card had Yama ahead, 7-3. Greaves was penalized the sixth round for low blows.

SANTIAGO, Chile — Sergio Salvia, 134, Chile, knocked out Pedro Gallesso, 133, Brazil, 3.

Cubs Outslug Giants 16-12; Five Hit Homers As Yanks Win

By The Associated Press
Ernie Banks, an MVP with an HR bat, could become the first National League player to win the award in consecutive seasons.

The Chicago Cubs shortstop was the '58 most valuable player on the strength of 47 home runs, 129 RBI and 379 total bases which brought him the NL slugging crown.

Mickey Mantle (1956-57) is one of two New York Yankees to win the AL MVP award two straight years. Catcher Yogi Berra did it in 1954-55. Other AL repeaters were slugger Jimmy Foxx of the Philadelphia Athletics (1932-33) and the great left-hander of the Detroit Tigers, Hal Newhouse (1944-45).

Never much of a spring hitter until last year, Ernie signaled what could be another big year when he belted a pair of three-run homers Friday as the Cubs outslugged the Giants 16-12 in an exhibition game at Mesa, Ariz.

Mantle and four other Yanks—Norm Siebern, Bobby Richardson, Bill Skowron and Elston Howard—homered as New York defeated Detroit 14-8 at Lakeland.

A three-run inside-the-park shot by Pirate Bill Virdon was wasted as Kansas City turned back Pittsburgh 8-3 at Fort Myers.

Baltimore beat Cincinnati 6-2 at Tampa with Gene Woodling homing for the Orioles and Ed Bailey for the Reds.

Pitching was the key at Bradenton where Early Wynn and two Chicago rookies, Rudolph Arias and Claude Raymond, combined to two-hit the Milwaukee Braves 7-1 for the White Sox.

Don Blasingame delivered a two-run double with two out in the eighth inning to bring in the decisive runs in a 5-3 St. Louis victory over Philadelphia at St. Petersburg.

The battle for the 21st championship is bound to be a thriller if it fits the pattern of Friday night's struggle in which Tennessee A & I emerged the victor, 64-62, over Southwest Texas State.

Tennessee pulled that out in the final 14 seconds, and will face Pacific Lutheran tonight after a consolation game for third place between Southwest Texas and Fort Hays (Kan.) State, Lutheran's semifinal victim 80-71.

The Tigers from Nashville were two minutes away from defeat when their comeback against the Texas Bobcats began to tell. The screaming, standing crowd of 7,500 sensed an upset.

The clock read 2:02 to go when John Barnhill hit an outside lay-up for a 62-61 lead, the Tennessee first of the game. Rudy Davalos of Southwest drew a foul and tied the count at 62-61.

With 1:26 left, A & I started passing the ball around for one telling shot. Dick Barnett got it on a rebound.

Lutheran and Fort Hays traded leads three times and tied the game up in five more instances before the Tacoma, Wash., club went out in front to stay shortly before intermission.

Chuck Curtis, Jim Van Beek and Roger Iverson, all playing their fourth tournament here, were too much for the hot and cold Kansas. Curtis was high scorer with 31 points.

Bowling Green Leads In Swimming Meet

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green led with 61 points at the halfway mark of the Mid-American Conference swimming meet today in its quest for a third straight title.

Miami, with 58½ points, provided the main competition for the defending champions. Ohio University was third with 44 points, followed by Western Michigan with 30½ and Kent State with 20.

Bill Mulliken of Miami, who broke the conference record in the 1,500-meter freestyle Thursday, gave another record-breaking performance Friday night. He swam the 100-yard breast stroke in 1:06.3, which broke the record of 1:10.9 set by Jim Thompson of Bowling Green in the 1958 meet.

Hank Reest of Bowling Green set a record in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 2:08.8, compared with the previous record of 2:15.7 set by Ray Martin of Bowling Green last year.

Preliminaries in the final seven events were scheduled this morning with the finals this afternoon.

Louisville Rips Kentucky 76-61

Boston University
Shades Navy 62-55

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kentucky's defending champions are out but first-ranked Kansas State and three other of the nation's top 10 teams are still in the running for the NCAA major college basketball championship.

Kentucky, seeking its fifth national crown and ranked second nationally, was unexpectedly eliminated by Louisville at Evanston, Ill., Friday night, 76-61.

The defeat of Adolph Rupp's Wildcats by a team that had dropped 10 of 27 games was by far the most astounding of the results of four regional tournaments. Kentucky went into the fray with a 23-2 mark.

Navy, which gained stature by beating North Carolina in a preliminary round last Tuesday, was defeated by lightly regarded Boston University 62-55 in overtime at Charlotte, N. C.

Cincinnati, fifth ranked, Michigan State, No. 7, and West Virginia, No. 10, just managed to squeeze into tonight's regional finals. In contrast, Kansas State, St. Mary's, Calif. and California won in a breeze.

The results of Friday night's games produced this lineup for tonight:

At CharlotteWest Virginia vs. Boston University.
At Evanston — Louisville vs. Michigan State.

At Lawrence, Kan.—Cincinnati vs. Kansas State.
At San Francisco—California vs. St. Mary's.

Cincinnati, with All-America Oscar Robertson carrying the burden, edged big, slow-moving but stubborn Texas Christian 77-73. Robertson got 34 points, slightly above his pacesetter average of 33.2 as the nation's leading scorer.

West Virginia, getting 36 points from All-America Jerry West — 21 in the last nine minutes—came from 18 points back midway of the second half for a 95-92 decision over St. Josephs of Philadelphia.

Michigan State, the rugged Big Ten champ, had a scare thrown into it by Marquette before winning 74-69. The Spartans blew a 15-point lead but pulled it out in the closing minutes on three baskets by Bob Anderson. Andregg topped the scorers with 23 points.

Kansas State, Big Eight champion, rolled to a 102-70 victory over DePaul for its 21st successive triumph and a season's mark of 25-1. All-America Bob Boozer got only 16 points, far below his 25-plus average, but Wally Frank came through with 23—far more than usual.

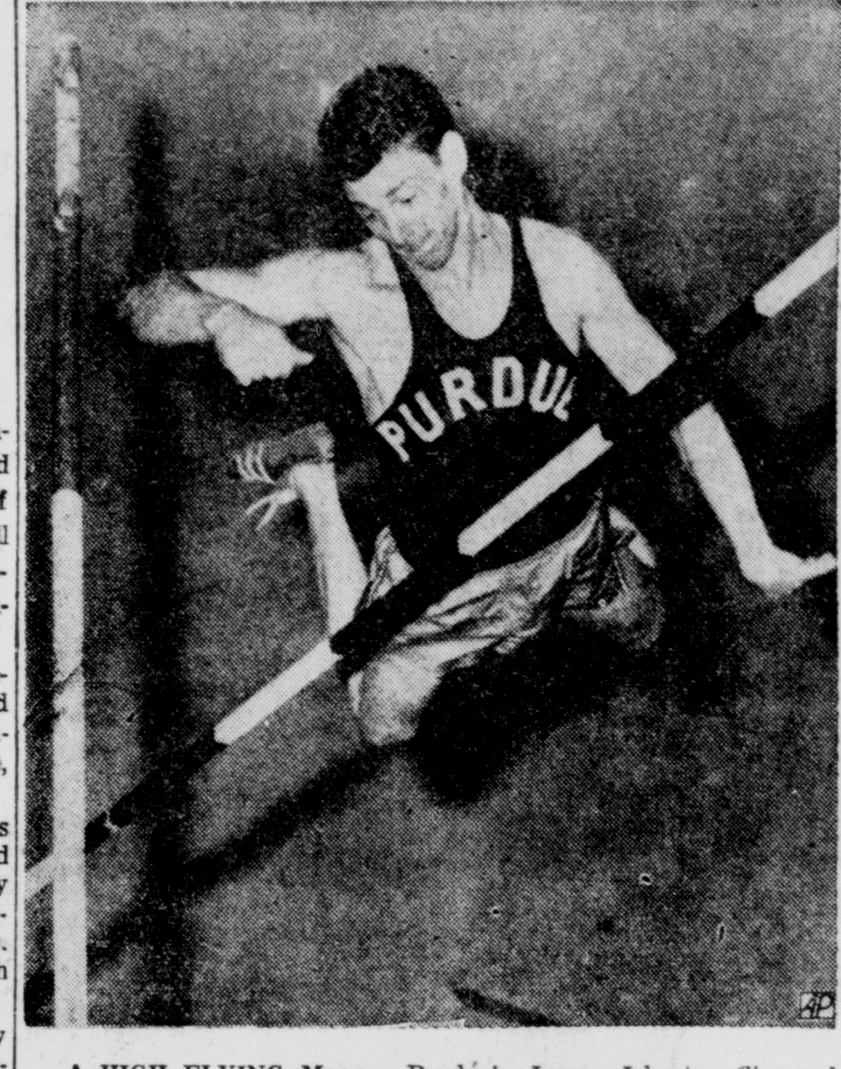

Neither game of the Far West Regional produced the unexpected. St. Mary's overpowered Idaho State 80-71, and California, the nation's No. 1 defensive team, romped to its 13th straight victory, downing Utah, best of the Skyline Conference, 71-53.

Sophomore Tom Meschery and senior Larry Doss were St. Mary's big guns. Meschery, hitting on six long shots in eight attempts, was the show in the first half and Doss took over in the second. Meschery ended up with 19 points and Doss with 21.

Utah gave California a struggle in the early minutes of the second half, but then the Golden Bears tightened their famous defense and that was all for the Utes.

Evanston was the NCAA small college title by beating Southwest Missouri 83-67 at Evansville, Ind. Defending champion Tennessee A&I and Pacific Lutheran gained the finals of the NAIA at Kansas City. The highly touted Negro team from Tennessee had a close call, coming from behind to nip Southwest Texas 64-62, and Pacific Lutheran beat Fort Hays, Kan. State 80-71. The finals will be played tonight.

NEW YORK (Madison Square Garden) — Yama Bahama, 153, Bahamas, outpointed Wilfie Greaves, 160½, Edmonton, Alta., 10.

A HIGH FLYING MAN — Purdue's James Johnston flips pole from his hands as he clears 14 feet, 2½ inches to tie for first place in the pole vault event of the Big Ten indoor meet at Wisconsin's Camp Randall Memorial Building at Madison recently. Mike Gibson of Michigan was the co-winner.

The third-place Detroit Pistons go against the second-place Minneapolis Lakers at St. Paul in the opener of the best-of-three Western semifinals to determine a challenger to the division champion St. Louis Hawks.

If the result is anything like the opener in the East, the Pistons are ready to spring a surprise.

The New York Knickerbockers, after bagging nine of 12 regular season games from Syracuse, were five-point favorites Friday night. Instead, the Nationals outplayed them all the way—winding up with a 129-123 victory in a game that set a playoff record for total points by two teams.

Dolph Schayes with 35 points and rookie Hal Greer with 16 points led the Nationals. They can wrap up the series and a shot at Eastern champion Boston in a best-of-seven final by defeating New York in Syracuse Sunday afternoon. The game will be televised nationally (NBC), at 2:30 p.m., EST.

After tonight's opener, Detroit and Minneapolis head for Detroit and play the second game of the Western semifinals Sunday afternoon. If a third game is needed, it will be played at Minneapolis Wednesday night.

Questions and Answers

Q — Is Alaska rich in forests?

A — Experts say there is no end to the timber that may be cut on a scientific harvesting basis. The forests are actually improved by the cutting.

Q — Why is the yapok unique among the marsupials?

A — It is the only member of its order that is really at home in the water. Because of this peculiarity, it is called the water opossum.

State to Pipe Water to 7 Ohio Villages

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Officials of seven water-parched villages in southeastern Ohio have been told of state plans to bring fresh water to them by a million-dollar pipeline system.

At a meeting in nearby Glouster Friday night, they were given details of a proposed project to feed their communities drinking water through pipelines originating at Burr Oak Reservoir.

The reservoir, about two miles north of Glouster, extends into Morgan County.

Besides Glouster, villages represented at the meeting were Trimble, Jacksonville and Hollister (all in Athens County), Murray City (Hocking County), New Straitsville and Shawnee (both Perry County).

James D. Wells, executive assistant to Herbert B. Eagon, state natural resources director, said the villages must quickly complete legislation to provide right-of-way for the pipelines and to authorize water-purchase contracts.

Until these details are completed, Wells told the village officials, a contract for pipeline construction cannot be awarded.

The previous General Assembly appropriated $965,000 to build the pipelines. But Eagon has pointed out that if the contract is not awarded by June 30, the funds would have to be reappropriated.

"The seven villages," Eagon said in a pre-meeting statement, "could be classified as distress areas . . . (their ground water is scarce and of poor quality. Streams are polluted by acid drainage from abandoned (coal) mines. . . . A source of good quality water is necessary in order that industry may be attracted which can provide employment and bolster the economy".

Boy Fair Following Operation on Heart

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The surgeon who opened a closed valve in the heart of 11-year-old Michael Hayes said today the boy is going to be "all right" and that the operation was a success.

Michael, a fifth grader from the Lawrence County community of Willow Wood, underwent a 3½-hour operation at Children's Hospital here Friday to correct the defective heart valve.

Cheering him on are eight Marines, regulars and reservists, from Huntington, W. Va., who donated some of the 25 pints of blood which were needed for transfusions. Friends and relatives supplied the rest.

Michael was "holding his own" in the hospital's intensive care ward early today while nurses kept a close watch on him. He was reported in fair condition.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

Newsman Elected C. of C. President

WASHINGTON (AP) — A scholarly editor who says the 1900 concept of capitalism is very foreign to the capitalism of today is taking over as head of one of the world's largest organizations of businessmen.

He's Erwin D. Canham, elected Friday as president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. Canham is best known as editor of the Christian Science Monitor and as a radio and TV commentator.

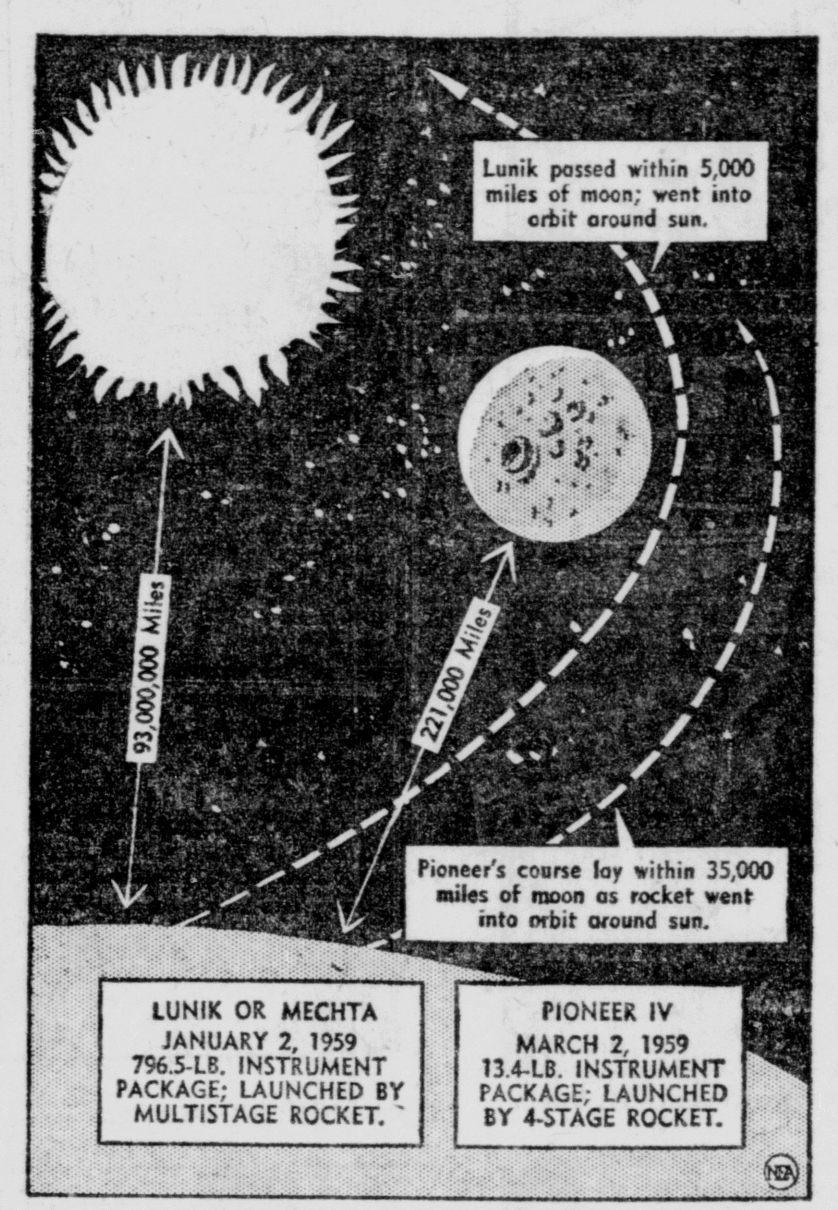

For the Chamber, which ordinarily picks career businessmen, industrialists or financiers as its top officer, Canham is the first newspaperman in the big organization's line of 32 presidents. He succeeds St. Louis banker William McDonald, who now becomes board chairman.

"The 1900 concept of capitalism is a thing very foreign to the capitalism of today," Canham told reporters after his election.

"Business," he said, "has accepted a deep responsibility and accountability to its customers, its civic neighbors, its workers and its stockholders."

"Economic power has been shifting in this country. It is moving still in the direction of a balance—and economic balance is as necessary to economic freedom as the political balance of power is to political freedom."

West of the Moon---

Another man-made planet is destined to take its place in the solar system — the Army's Pioneer IV moon shot — joining Russia's Mechta (Dream). The speed of Pioneer is just enough to enable it to escape the gravitational pull of both earth and moon and send it into orbit around the sun. This is the first time an American rocket has achieved so-called "escape velocity." Pioneer's orbit is predicted to be somewhat larger and more elongated than the earth's, but because of its greater speed it will still take about a year to circle the sun.

Stand Up To Soviets, Taylor Urges U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union can be deterred from "a final showdown at this time," predicts Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, if the United States is determined "to go to war if necessary for Berlin."

"We must be willing to go all the way down the road," says the Army chief of staff. "We can't turn back at any point."

Taylor advocated this stand Wednesday in top secret testimony before the Senate Watchdog Preparedness subcommittee. A heavily censored transcript of his remarks was released Friday night by subcommittee Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.).

Asked if this country has "clear-cut plans to meet the Berlin crisis in any eventuality that may confront us," Taylor said:

"The Joint Chiefs of Staff do." Taylor, himself a member of the Joint Chiefs, expressed conviction the United States and its European allies have the strength to carry out those plans.

Recalling the Soviet's blockade of Berlin in 1948, Taylor testified that many top military leaders now regard the U.S.-Berlin airlift as a mistake. Force should have been tried, Taylor said, when the Soviets blocked ground routes into Berlin.

"Instead we yielded to a challenge which may well have been a bluff," Taylor said. "We will never know to what extent the U.S.S.R. would have gone to maintain the ground blockade by force."

Falls Over 100-Foot Cliff, Boy to Recover

OROVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Richard Greer, 12, fell onto the rocks of rugged Feather River canyon from a 100-foot cliff Friday but he is expected to survive despite multiple fractures.

Richard and a friend, Robert Seville, 13, both of nearby Oregon City, rode their bikes from school to the rim of Table Mountain. Richard fell the equivalent of 10 stories while they were playing. Robert rode for help.

It took a sheriff's posse 90 minutes to rescue the boy, who had fallen on a ledge. His mother, Mrs. Woodrow Greer, watched anxiously from the top of the cliff.

ESCAPEES RECAPTURED

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—After a short hour of freedom, two London Prison Farm escapees were nabbed by police Friday. Farm Superintendent R. B. Eckle said Lloyd J. Knixley, 24, and Clinton B. Hen-sley, 28, fled from a work detail at the farm, but were captured about six miles from the farm.

LICENSE SUSPENDED

LISBON — Traffic court hearings at the Courthouse have resulted in the suspension of the driving permit of one motorist and the fining of another.

Samuel W. Lippiatt, 17, of 1742 N. Ellsworth Ave., Salem had his license suspended for four months for speeding, and Jerry Key Ash, 16, of 551 California Ave., Chester, W. Val. was fined $15 for passing in a "No passing" zone.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The prices are going up, so the bars are stocking up. That's the general situation at state liquor stores since the Liquor Department announced the other day that prices will be boosted around 10 per cent a fifth, starting April 1.

The department said total sales at the 12 wholesale stores last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday amounted to $788,719. That's $398,719 more than the total for the corresponding three-day period last year. There are no figures available yet for combination retail-wholesale stores.

Johnson Says U.S. Strength 'Adequate'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said today that secret testimony by top military leaders indicates this country "has adequate plans and strength to support and execute the foreign policy of the United States."

The Senate leader did not mention the Berlin crisis as such, but stressed that he was speaking of the present.

"But now, and on down the road are two different things," he said. Johnson's comments came as he left a closed-door session of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee at which Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, had been questioned.

Earlier this week the group had questioned Army and Air Force leaders about details of their requests in relation to the new Eisenhower defense budget.

Johnson said each of the career military leaders made it clear that some things they asked had not been granted.

He said his group is seeking to learn if there are "adequate plans, programs and strength to support the nation's foreign policy." He has emphasized throughout that the inquiry is directed at the future as well as the current situation.

Johnson said that this will be a subject of major debate in the Democratic congress this session, and there may be some increases.

The Bolivian demonstrators were protesting against a Time magazine article which quoted an unidentified American diplomat as suggesting that Bolivia and its problems to be divided among its neighbors. The magazine described the suggestion as a "wise-crack."
